

ERIC MACBETH

Water Resources Coordinator, City of Eagan

ERIC MACBETH has almost 25 years' experience in planning, policy, management, research, and public education of lakes, rivers, and wetlands. Since 1999, he has coordinated Eagan's stormwater pollution prevention, lakes, and wetlands programs. He has a master's degree from the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point and completed Ph.D. coursework in water resources science at the University of Minnesota.