Youth Voices Conference Goes National!

THE YOUTH VOICES CONFERENCE is the first youth-planned and hosted national conference put on by the University of Minnesota Landscape Arboretum. The highlight of the conference will be creative presentations given by teams of youth from different garden-based programs from around the nation. Listen as they present lessons learned, memories, and the impacts of garden programs on their lives.

YOUTH ARE RARELY GIVEN the opportunity to influence the direction of program planning, design and implementation. Join us for a truly extraordinary experience, where youth are given the opportunity to share their take on things. Your job is to listen in an effort to improve program goals and enhance outcomes. With an emphasis on youth employment, leadership, and empowerment through garden-based programs, this is sure to be a one-of-a-kind experience!

Who Should Attend

- Garden-based program designers and practitioners
- Grant funding organizations
- Program evaluators and researchers
- Grant writers
- School board Members
- Out-of-school organizations serving youth
- Local government
- Individuals/organizations interested in starting a garden-based program
- Extension Services
- Master Gardeners

Goal

TO INJECT YOUTH VOICE into program design and implementation and enhance the benefits of garden-based programs for children and youth.

Challenge

TAKE CHARGE OF YOUR LEARNING by being an active participant in this conference. Take notes, write down questions, and make the most of what you hear by thinking critically about how the youth perspective can help you create more successful programs.

Learn

How to REALLY listen to children and youth?
 How to gather their insights?
 How to use youth perspective in program planning?
